Port and Shipping Ministers Head to London for International Petroleum (IP) Week

The Government of Gibraltar together with the Gibraltar Port Authority are pleased to confirm that they will be attending IP Week events in London from 9 - 11 February. IP Week attracts senior representatives from the oil and gas industry and provides ideal marketing opportunities for the Port, making it an excellent opportunity to further promote Gibraltar as a centre for maritime excellence. Ministers Paul Balban and Albert Isola, accompanied by CEO and Captain of the Port, Commodore Bob Sanguinetti and over twenty members from the local port community will also be attending the IBIA Gala Dinner, which marks the start of IP Week. The ministers will be attending as guests of the IBIA Board, highlighting Gibraltar's reputation as a premier bunker port. This high profile event attracts over a thousand key players from the bunkering industry across the world. Whilst in London, Minister Albert Isola will also be taking the opportunity to engage with senior management from a number of the principal suppliers at Gibraltar.
